Norman Rockwell

"A Happy Adventure"

Most people would instantly recognize our cover as a Norman Rockwell painting, even without glancing at his famous signature. Perhaps best known for his Saturday Evening Post covers—he painted his first in 1916—Mr. Rockwell has portrayed virtually every aspect of American life during his long career.

We are honored that he added McDonald's to his collection of famous paintings.

At the age of 78, Mr. Rockwell lives and works in Stockbridge, Massachusetts. The Old Corner House, a handsome old home rescued from the bulldozer by the artist and his neighbors in the Stockbridge Historical Society, holds a permanent display of his paintings, including that first Saturday Evening Post cover.

The book, "Norman Rockwell: Artist and Illustrator," published last year, depicts most of his works in a nostalgic picture history of the "ordinary" people he portrays with such human warmth.

If you would like a complimentary copy of Norman Rockwell's "A Happy Adventure" suitable for framing, write to: Norman Rockwell Painting, McDonald's Corporation, McDonald's Plaza, Oak Brook, Illinois 60521.

Recently Norman Rockwell, at his Stockbridge, Massachusetts home and studio, personally presented the cover painting to Chairman Ray A. Kroc.

Message from management

In 1971 your company continued to set new records in sales, revenues, earnings, new store openings and store volumes. These records follow the growth pattern we have experienced since McDonald's founding in 1955.

McDonald's reported net earnings in 1971 of $25,798,000, an increase of 45 per cent over $17,828,000 in 1970. Per share earnings were $1.37, compared with $.98 in 1970, an increase of 40 per cent. Per share earnings for 1970 have been restated to reflect the three-for-two stock split distributed June 11, 1971. Stockholders' equity reached a new high of $137,619,000, compared with $109,215,000 at the end of 1970.

Sales for all licensed and company-owned stores increased 34 per cent, going to $784,058,000, compared with $587,041,000 in 1970. Gross revenues totaled $278,187,000 for the year, an increase of 39 per cent over $200,350,000 in 1970. Gross revenues are derived from sales by company-owned restaurants, rental income, service fees, initial location and license fees, gains on sales of company-owned stores, interest and other income.

Individual store volume continued to grow, with the 1971 per store average reaching $455,000, compared with $415,000 in 1970. The average for stores opened 13 months or more was $467,000, a 12.7 per cent increase over the 1970 average for the same stores. Membership in our select "over $500,000 club" expanded to 543 from 310 in 1970. During the year, 24 McDonald's restaurants grossed more than $800,000 and three topped $1 million.

Because our rental income and service fees, currently 8½ per cent and 3 per cent respectively, are based upon sales, the continuing increases in store volumes are a major factor in the growth of revenue from these sources.

We increased our number of stores from 1,592 to 1,904 at year end. Of the new restaurants, 287 are in the United States. In addition to 12 new stores in Canada, we opened 13 stores in other parts of the world.

The number of restaurants in Canada was increased to 63, compared with 51 at the end of 1970, and as expected, operations for the year were profitable.

During the year, your company acquired 16 restaurants in New Jersey and eight in New York State from multiple licensees for common stock. We also purchased six stores for cash. Shortly after the end of the year, we acquired six restaurants for common stock (five stores in Tennessee and one in Florida) and we agreed in principle to acquire 13 stores for common stock (six in St. Louis, five in New Orleans and two in Dearborn Heights, Michigan). Also in 1971 the corporation sold 27 stores to licensees, with total gains amounting to $1,721,000.

At the close of the year, McDonald's Corporation owned approximately 25 per cent of all stores, including those located outside the United States. We firmly endorse the licensing concept on which your company was founded, and will continue to license most of the new McDonald's stores inside the United States. Outside this country, our outlets are either company-owned or operated under joint venture agreements, depending upon the most suitable arrangement in each country.

During July, 1971, we issued $25 million in convertible subordinated debentures due 1996. The proceeds were earmarked primarily for the acquisition and development of real estate of existing and new restaurant locations.

Management increased its in-depth strength with the election of two new vice presidents: Frank Behan, Eastern Region Manager, and Donald Smith, Mid-Atlantic Region Manager. Both continue in their present positions.

Our International Division moved ahead during the year with the opening of stores in Japan, The Netherlands, Germany and Australia. We are proud to be associated in joint ventures headed by Den Fujita, of Fujita & Co., Ltd., in Japan, and with Albert Heijn N.V. in The Netherlands. Heijn, headed by Gary and Albert Heijn, has long been prominent in the food industry of Holland. The German and Australian restaurants are operated by wholly-owned subsidiaries of McDonald's, as are most of our Canadian operations. Our subsidiaries are headed by George A. Cohon in Canada, by Donn Wilson in Australia and by Anton F. Klaus in Germany.

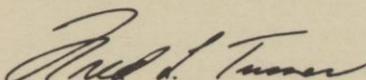

This year our annual report features training, which is the key to Q.S. & C. — Quality, Service and Cleanliness. The company's emphasis on these high standards is one of the principal reasons for McDonald's success. The effort we put into training our people is described in the following section.

We look forward to another growth year for McDonald's and anticipate sales of all licensed and company-owned stores to exceed $1 billion, for the first time in our history.

Our annual meeting will be held at our new Corporate Headquarters in Oak Brook, Illinois, at 10:00 a.m. on Friday, May 12, 1972.

Training ...the key to Q.S.C.

Nothing says McDonald's more than the winning smile of the crewman in Norman Rockwell's cover portrait.

And nothing demonstrates the unique McDonald's spirit—the spirit that has made ours such a successful people business—as well as that friendly and sincere smile.

This is the story behind that smile, the story of McDonald's training program which nurtures that indefinable McDonald's spirit, and realizes the promise of Q.S.C.—Quality, Service and Cleanliness.

Our training has but one objective: to satisfy the customer. A satisfied customer returns—again and again—and he is the key to the continuing growth of your Company.

Because ours is a people business, it is appropriate that much of our training be directed toward the marketplace, where a smiling young crewman is McDonald's to each customer he serves.

Training is provided at every level—national, regional and local—to every member of the McDonald's family, and our training tools range from contemporary audio visual aids to traditional teaching methods.

We use them all in an ongoing program, because our training staff continually develops new resource materials and learning aids. During 1971, the creative staff at Hamburger University, our national training center, more than doubled the number of training films available to our stores.

"New Dimensions," a film demonstrating management concepts in action, won an award for excellence at the Columbus Film Festival; another film, "Six Steps to Success," featured television comedian Pat Paulsen teaching counter personnel the important elements in good customer relations.

All our people are informed of continuing improvements in operational procedures through updating of our Operations and Training Manual, which is provided to each store.

We are helping establish training programs in other countries where we do business. Our training experts are going overseas to work shoulder to shoulder with new crewmen and managers and I each have an idea and we exchange ideas, each of us will go home with two ideas."

Our regional training staffs work closely with each restaurant within their regions, providing the latest educational material and offering skilled guidance in its use.

In-store training

Most in-store training is devoted to teaching operational procedures to our crew members. The format may vary from one-to-one demonstrations, with a new man or woman being shown every step of a new job, to more formal classroom instruction.

Each store's unique requirements dictate the format and pace of its training program.

Training the new crewman begins with an orientation which reviews each job station, introduces McDonald's commitment to Q.S.C., and states the purpose of our business: to satisfy our customers.

Classes and structured programs, utilizing filmstrips, tests, and other specially developed materials, follow. Everything a crew member is called upon to do—and the reasons for doing it the McDonald's way—are explained thoroughly.

The steady emphasis on why, as well as what, helps instill the unique McDonald's spirit in each crewman as he learns his role in our people-to-people business.

After learning the duties of an assigned job station, each crewman or crewlady receives training for every production and service area responsibility within the store. In addition to providing an opportunity for individual advancement, the complete training program also permits greater flexibility in scheduling and store operations.

And the McDonald's tradition of promotion from the ranks is instrumental in maintaining high crew morale and in keeping your company strong.

Some stores offer special crew certification programs, which honor crewmen who demonstrate outstanding proficiency and job knowledge. The crewman may receive an increase in to maintain the McDonald's standards of Q.S.C. throughout the world.

The Basic Operations Course is conducted on a regional basis in existing stores. This on-the-job introduction helps our new owner-licensees become McDonald's people as they learn how to operate a restaurant and satisfy their customers the McDonald's way.

Along with the basic course, regional training centers host frequent seminars for our licensees and managers to discuss common store problems and opportunities. An instructor explained the seminar's guiding philosophy: "If you and I each have a dollar and we exchange dollars, each of us will go home with a dollar. If you compensation, additional responsibilities, or other recognition of his accomplishments and contributions.

Other stores use the coach system, involving an especially skilled crewman who coaches other crew people in learning his job station.

Our stores use a variety of other programs to motivate our crews to improve their attitudes and efficiency. Some inspire healthy, internal competition by posting periodic performance reviews so each crewman can see how his work compares with his fellow worker's. Crewmen with the best records may receive prizes or other awards.

Or several stores in an area may join in an All-Star competition to select the best crews. Each winning crewmember receives an All-Star badge as recognition of his performance.

But because our training can be only as good as the trainer, our "Train a Trainer" guide book offers a step by step approach to teaching both new and experienced crewmen. By using the guide, the trainer learns to spot potential trouble areas and to retrain store personnel who may need additional assistance.

All our training efforts are intended to help each member of our store team learn how to perform his job properly and efficiently and to help him realize that he is a valuable and contributing member of the McDonald's family.

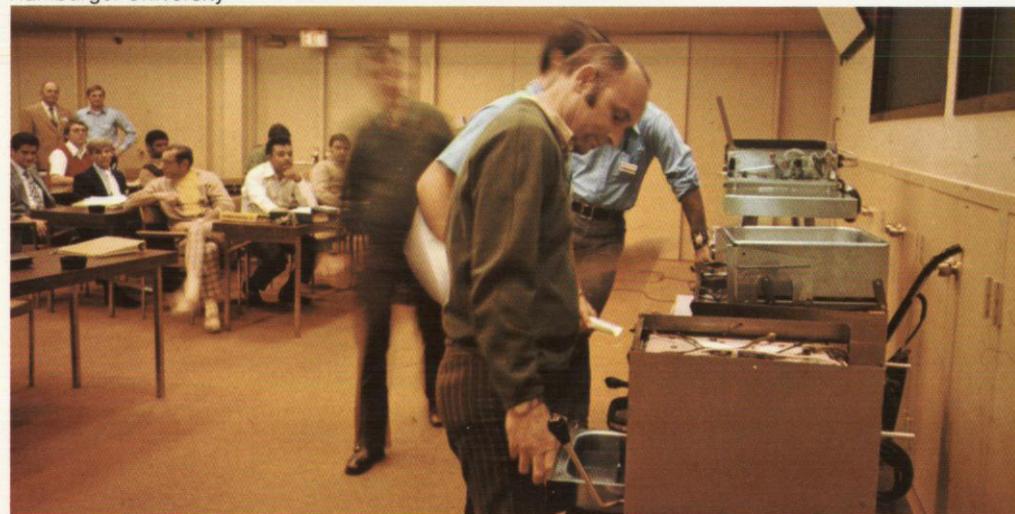

There is no substitute for meaningful, effective crew training, because there is no substitute for high quality, properly prepared food served courteously and with a friendly, sincere smile.

Management training

Hamburger University offers in-depth management training taught university style, using lectures, audio-visual presentations, and equipment demonstrations. Students are new owner-licensees who have completed the Basic Operations Course and store managers, learning the skills essential to our customer-oriented business.

Members of our corporate staff also attend Hamburger University to gain valuable insight into the operations of a McDonald's restaurant.

The classes, taught by experienced McDonald's professionals, cover every phase of our business and pay particular attention to developing the management capabilities needed to achieve customer satisfaction.

National convention

Our bi-annual national operators convention is one of your company's valuable opportunities for face-to-face communication.

The 1971 convention, held during October in Hawaii, brought together the entire McDonald's family to share experiences, exchange ideas and participate in formal and informal discussions on every McDonald's-oriented subject.

Personal presentations, filmed discussions and interviews with licensees, managers, crews and customers, and idea-generating conferences shared a common objective: help each licensee get a larger share of his market.

Our licensees responded with enthusiastic interest to convention seminars which presented new perspectives on remodeling, management-crew relations, marketing techniques, and better in-store training methods and other business topics.

A commitment to excellence

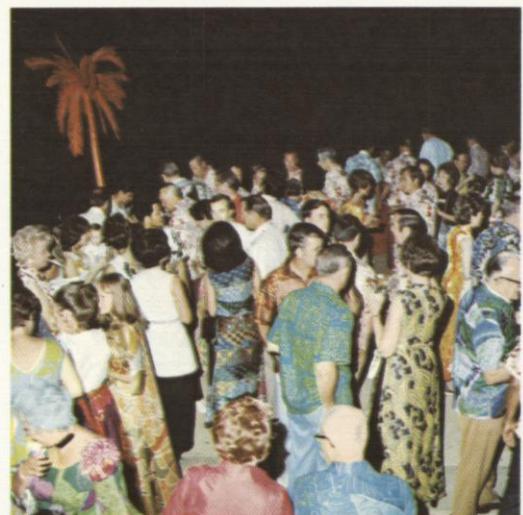

McDonald's standards are high. In the products we serve and in the people who prepare and serve them, we are committed to excellence.

McDonald's training program, which seeks to develop the fullest potential of each of our people, serves that commitment.

The timeless smiles of the McDonald's crewman and customers, captured forever by Norman Rockwell, reflect that commitment.

National convention

McDonald's in 1971

It is especially appropriate that Norman Rockwell, the beloved painter of memorable moments in people's lives, should capture the essence of McDonald's — a crewman and our customers.

For if anything characterizes McDonald's more than the products we serve, it is people: the millions of people who come to our restaurants every day and the tens of thousands of McDonald's people who bring them back again and again.

Your company continued to grow and to progress in 1971, thanks to all those people who helped make McDonald's less sensitive to the adverse factors that affected many segments of the American economy in 1971.

In turn, McDonald's will continue to seek new and improved ways to achieve the customer satisfaction so integral to our history and so essential to our continued success.

To meet our continuing commitment to provide more convenient and attractive restaurants for our customers, 184 McDonald's were converted to our new architectural standards in 1971. Within the last two and one-half years, 324 stores have undergone major remodeling to change from the familiar red and white tile to the contemporary brick and mansard roof design.

The sales volumes of remodeled stores are impressive evidence that our customers and our store personnel appreciate our new buildings.

In addition, many of our stores have adapted the distinctive atmosphere of the local scene to their interior decors. A restaurant near a college or university may utilize a football theme, while others assume the romantic aura of the old west or the quiet colonial charm of the east.

Many licensees, assisted by professional landscapers in the design and creation of attractive grounds and gardens, participate in community and regional beautification contests.

Our continuing growth in 1971 meant not only more McDonald's restaurants, but new kinds of McDonald's in new places to serve new customers.

Encouraged by earlier successes, we continued to open McDonald's restaurants designed for urban areas where heavy pedestrian traffic eliminates the need for customer parking facilities. By year end, approximately 25 in-town stores were in operation in New York, Boston, Washington, D.C., Pittsburgh, Chicago, Las Vegas, Honolulu and other cities.

During the year, we began testing a new store concept named the MiniMac. A standard menu McDonald's restaurant in a smaller building and with less production capacity, the MiniMac may provide your company the opportunity to move into smaller communities which cannot support a standard McDonald's. Thus far, the MiniMac has performed well and we will continue to evaluate the concept under a variety of conditions.

McDonald's menu, fast service and value were introduced in 1971 to people in other parts of the world by our International Division, which helped our associates establish five restaurants in Japan; two in the Netherlands; one each in Guam, Munich, Germany, Sydney, Australia, and Panama City, Panama. In other areas outside the United States, your company opened 13 additional stores in Canada and two in Puerto Rico.

To keep our decision-making as close as possible to our stores, and to help our operators benefit from the assistance of corporate personnel, we established five district offices in 1971. This decentralization augments and strengthens the work of McDonald's people in our six regional offices. To further increase line management's effectiveness, we opened 19 sub-regional offices near our company operated stores.

We have begun using a new system on our computer to aid our real estate staff in the important site selection process. The system considers more than 30 variables, including population statistics, traffic speed limits, and access to the site. However, we still rely heavily on the experienced judgment of our real estate personnel, who can refine the program and use it to best advantage.

Other corporate activities in 1971 included the dedication of McDonald's Plaza, our new World Headquarters building in Oak Brook, Illinois, a Chicago suburb. We occupy the top three floors and are leasing the remaining five floors to tenants who enjoy the prestige of this outstanding building.

The structure, a striking addition to the suburban landscape, features a pioneering concept in office design: none of our offices have walls or doors.

Departments are grouped into unpartitioned areas where modular desk units, cabinets, other office furnishings and live plants are arranged to provide each employee with a quiet work space.

The openness of each department and floor encourages a free accessibility and interchange among all our people that is productive and beneficial, and we are flattered by the attention given our unique offices by designers, newsmen, and officials of other major corporations.

The market place

As the number of McDonald's restaurants increases, and as the average volume of our stores continues to grow, our "billions served" signs are replaced more frequently than ever.

We served our eight billionth hamburger in 1971 and were approaching the nine billion mark when the year ended.

And although that sales rate indicates a high level of customer satisfaction, your company intends to remain in touch with the consumer's constantly changing needs, wants and attitudes.

New food items are introduced nationally only after extensive test marketing proves their compatibility with our production system and limited menu and demonstrates profitable public acceptance.

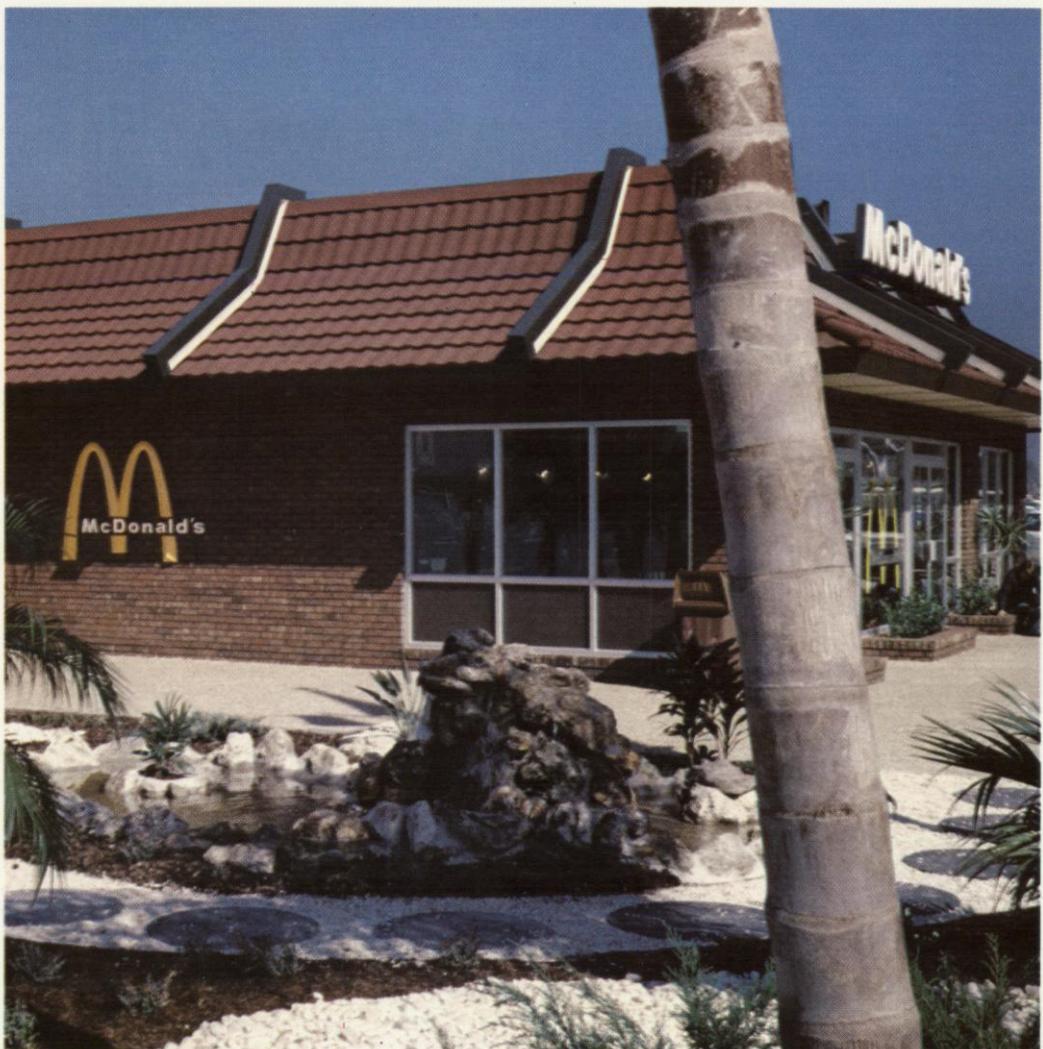

During 1971, we continued test marketing southern fried chicken, and added tests of a quarter pound hamburger and cheeseburger and of a prepackaged ice cream cone.

Customer studies are conducted regularly in each of our six regions, to aid our stores in pinpointing strengths and areas for improvement within their respective markets.

We've learned that the American housewife is more aware of McDonald's than she is of any other fast food organization, and that she remembers more of our advertising than any of our competitor's. She rates McDonald's as her family's favorite restaurant, and brings her family to McDonald's so frequently that we lead in the dollar share of our market.

Our licensees, your company, and OPNAD, the voluntary Operators National Advertising cooperative, jointly invested $30 million in advertising, and promotions. The advertising dollars were spent primarily in television, radio, newspaper, magazine and outdoor advertising in 1971.

McDonaldland, the television home of Ronald McDonald, the Hamburglar, Big Mac, Mayor McCheese, Captain Crook, and the Evil Grimace, has captured the fancy of youngsters throughout the country.

For adults, our advertising message was directed to a primary concern of every family in 1971: what to do about the family budget. Millions of adults responded happily to our message that "At McDonald's, you can get two hamburgers, an order of our world famous French fries, and a coke—and change back from a dollar."

We continued to develop business building ideas for each store, including the Shamrock Shake promotion for St. Patrick's Day, McDonald's Gift Certificates at Christmas time, and Ronald McDonald dolls. And a personal visit by Ronald—to a store or in a parade—continued to be a guaranteed crowd pleaser.

In 1971, we worked closely with the Boy Scouts of America in "Project SOAR" (Save Our American Resources), by helping Boy Scouts across the country as they cleaned parks, roadsides, and river banks in our communities. During the project, McDonald's served almost a million complimentary meals to the Scouts and provided millions of litter bags. We are proud that your company has been the only restaurant organization chosen to be an official participant, and we are making plans to participate in the program again this spring.

Ray A. Kroc, chairman of the board, received the annual "Good Scout" Award in 1971 in special recognition of McDonald's activities on behalf of the Boy Scouts, and Fred L. Turner, president, serves on the Project SOAR advisory committee.

We developed a special television commercial reminding all viewers — and particularly younger ones — to be litter-conscious. This commercial was used extensively in our network TV advertising and in numerous local markets, and will be repeated in conjunction with our national spring clean-up effort.

While we constantly emphasize cleanliness, our licensees conduct annual spring clean-up campaigns and intensify their efforts toward building maintenance, landscaping and store beautification.

Involvement in community affairs is another way of showing that every McDonald's is a local business contributing to local welfare. McDonald's operations help civic and charitable organizations in their fund-raising programs; in one case, our stores in a major city helped raise money for a kidney machine needed by a small child.

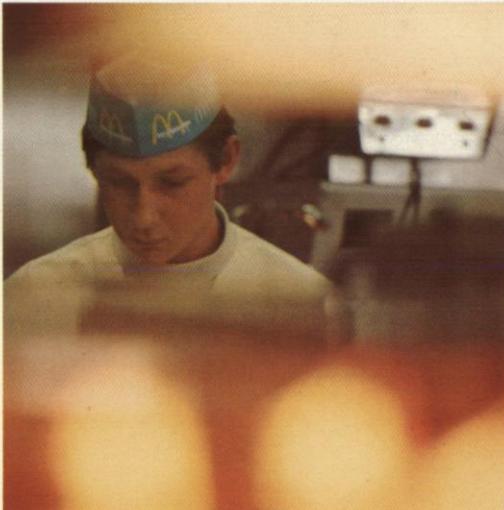

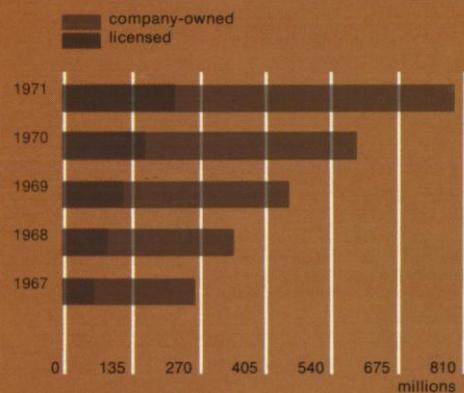

Our McDonald's All-American High School Band has become an American institution and a special point of pride for your company. The 101-member band, representing all 50 states and the District of Columbia, was again featured in the nationally-televised Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York and the Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena. In addition, local newspapers, radio and TV stations interviewed members of the band.

The New York Times Magazine feature article, "As American As a McDonald's Hamburger On the Fourth of July" was published in its July 4th issue. The story was condensed for the October, 1971 edition of Reader's Digest and also appeared in newspapers throughout the country.

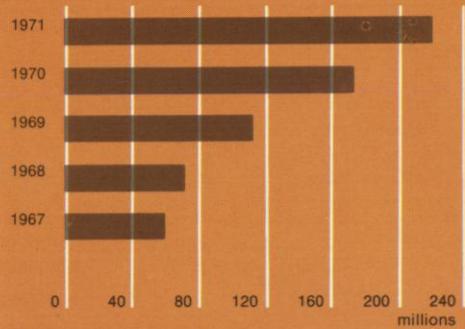

Community involvement, active public relations, advertising which speaks directly to customers and their concerns, promotions to enhance public awareness of McDonald's and our continuing insistence on high standards of Q.S.C., have achieved the public approval basic to your company's continuing growth and strength.

1 Basis of consolidated statements

The accounts of all subsidiaries are consolidated. The accounts of foreign subsidiaries are not material to the consolidated financial statements. Investments in 50% owned companies, which are not material to the consolidated financial statements, are carried at equity in the companies' net assets.

In June 1971, the Company effected a 3 for 2 common stock split (in the form of a 50% stock dividend). The accompanying consolidated financial statements and notes have been adjusted to reflect the common stock and per share data on the split basis.

Certain reclassifications have been made in the 1970 consolidated financial statements to conform to the presentation for 1971.

2 Acquisitions and sales of businesses

The Company acquired 24 stores in 1971 and 44 stores in 1970, including related territorial rights, from licensees in transactions accounted for as poolings of interests. A total of 172,873 shares of common stock (valued at $9,955,000) were issued in the 1971 acquisitions and 635,141 shares of common stock (valued at $14,720,000) were issued in the 1970 acquisitions. The accounts of these acquired stores have been included in the consolidated financial statements for the entire 1970 and 1971 years.

Accordingly, the Company's consolidated revenues and net income originally reported for 1970 have been restated to include the 1970 revenues ($6,852,000) and net income ($137,000) of the stores pooled in 1971. Their 1971 revenues and net income up to the dates of pooling, included in the consolidated financial statements, approximated $4,572,000 and $270,000, respectively.

The Company is contingently liable for issuance of up to a maximum of 97,269 additional shares of its common stock, and may be entitled to return of up to 59,453 shares for stores acquired prior to 1971, based on formulas related to future market price of the common stock. Based on the market price of the Company's common stock at December 31, 1971, no additional shares would be issuable and the Company would be entitled, under the formulas, to refunds of approximately 33,000 shares. An additional 471,267 shares may be issuable depending on sales (as defined) of stores in Hawaii acquired in poolings in 1970. Based on their 1971 sales, 17,943 of the shares will be issued. The issuance of the other shares depends on sales in 1972 and 1973.

In June and July 1970, the Company purchased 45% and 80% of the outstanding stock of its licensees in western and eastern Canada, respectively, for an aggregate 404,055 shares of its common stock (valued at $9,800,000), increasing its ownership of these licensees to 78% and 100%, respectively. At the dates of these transactions, the Canadian licensees owned 33 stores in operation, 2 under construction and extensive territorial rights to use the McDonald's System. In February 1971, the Company purchased the remaining 22% interest in its licensee in western Canada for $1,891,000. During 1971 the Company also purchased 6 stores from other licensees for $1,882,000 and sold 27 stores to licensees. In 1970, 2 other stores were purchased for $360,000 and 18 stores were sold to licensees. In addition, in 1971, 10 stores were leased to operators who were given options to purchase.

Results of operations of purchased stores have been included in the consolidated financial statements since dates of acquisition or, in the case of the Canadian licensees mentioned above, the dates control was obtained. Results of operations of stores purchased and sold during 1971, during the periods from January 1, 1970 to the respective acquisition and sale dates, were not material to the accompanying consolidated financial statements.

3 Financing agreements

The Company has sale and leaseback commitments to finance costs of restaurant property and buildings under construction. Costs incurred as of December 31, 1971 ($30,596,000) and December 31, 1970 ($27,457,000) which are recoverable under these financing agreements have been shown as current assets, based on commitments obtained through February 28, 1972 and February 12, 1971, respectively. Under these sale and leaseback agreements the Company has options to purchase the properties at fair market value or at other prices (not lower than depreciated book values at the option dates) determined by formulas. The leases will have initial terms of 20 or 25 years and renewal options which could extend the lease periods to 40 years.

Costs to complete restaurant construction under contracts existing at December 31, 1971 approximated $8,000,000.

4 Intangible assets

In 1961, the Company acquired the underlying rights (previously covered by a 99 year franchise agreement) to the McDonald's System, trademarks and trade names for $2,700,000 plus acquisition costs. An aggregate of $674,000 through December 31, 1971 and $636,000 through December 31, 1970 (including $38,000 for 1971 and $126,000 for 1970), representing proceeds from the sales of certain exclusive foreign territorial licensees, has been credited against the cost of these rights. No amortization is being provided for the balance of such rights ($2,035,000 at December 31, 1971 and $2,073,000 at December 31, 1970) as the Company feels there is no decrease in value.

In the acquisitions of Canadian licensees (see Note 2), the Company reacquired territorial licenses previously granted. Franchise and operating rights increased $2,022,000 in 1971 and $12,576,000 in 1970 representing the allocated cost of these territorial licensees. In accordance with an opinion of the Accounting Principles Board applicable to intangible assets acquired after October 1970, the 1971 costs are being amortized on the straight line method over forty years. No amortization is being provided on the 1970 costs, incurred before November 1970 to reacquire the majority of these territorial licenses, as the licenses are of unlimited term and, in the opinion of the Company, there is no decrease in value.

The Company and its subsidiaries have also reacquired limited term franchise rights from certain of its licensees. The cost of the franchise rights acquired are being amortized on a straight line method over their remaining lives. The unamortized amount totaled $8,023,000 at December 31, 1971 and $7,428,000 at December 31, 1970.

5 Long-term debt and dividend restrictions

Mortgage notes and land purchase contracts (which mature over various terms to 19 years) relate to land and buildings purchased and/or constructed by the Company and its subsidiaries. These obligations are generally payable in monthly instalments, with interest ranging from 5½% to 10½% per annum. Land, buildings and improvements with aggregate costs of approximately $86,000,000 at December 31, 1971 and $74,750,000 at December 31, 1970 were pledged as security for these obligations.

Prior to 1968, the Company entered into certain sale and leaseback arrangements requiring payment of rent equivalent to monthly amortization of cost, plus interest, generally over a fourteen year term. After five years, the Company has the option to purchase the property for the unamortized costs. At the conclusion of the lease, the title to the property reverts to the Company. The stores sold and leased back under these arrangements (approximately $10,100,000 at December 1971 and 1970) are treated in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets as property, plant and equipment and the related rental obligations are included with mortgage debt.

The Company entered into a $17,000,000 revolving credit agreement in December 1970 with a group of banks. Current loans under the agreement are due January 15, 1974, with interest (5¾% at December 31, 1971) at ½% above prime rate. The due date may be extended from time to time by mutual consent of the parties to the agreement.

Payments of principal, interest and premium of the subordinated promissory notes are based on gross receipts of all stores (both Company and independently operated) according to certain formulas set forth in the note agreements. The principal balance of the notes was fully paid in 1969 and all subsequent payments for periods through September 30, 1971 (including $2,838,000 for 1971 and $2,935,000 for 1970) were allocated to interest. Interest charges ceased on September 30, 1971 and subsequent payments are chargeable against the deferred portion of the premium which amounted to $2,906,000 at December 31, 1971 and $2,338,000 at December 31, 1970 (including $869,000 at December 31, 1970 classified as long-term debt due within one year). Based on projected sales, the remaining deferred portion at December 31, 1971 is expected to be paid in 1972 and has been classified as long-term debt due within one year. The subordinated promissory notes were originally due December 31, 1981, and under certain conditions could have been extended to December 31, 1991.

Notes payable for equipment purchases relate principally to equipment and signs at Company-owned stores. These notes are generally due in monthly instalments and have maturities ranging up to five years, with interest at 6% to 9½% per annum, except for $524,000 of notes made by Canadian subsidiaries ($505,000 prior to acquisition) on which interest rates range from 14½% to 16¾%. Equipment and signs with aggregate costs approximating $22,700,000 at December 31, 1971 and $16,500,000 at December 31, 1970 were pledged as security for the equipment purchase notes.

The 4½% subordinated debentures, issued in July 1971, are due

July 15, 1996 and are convertible into common stock at any time (unless previously called for redemption and, in such case, until the second business day preceding the date fixed for redemption), presently at $70.50 per share, subject to adjustment for specified changes in the Company's capitalization. The debentures are redeemable at the option of the Company at any time at prices ranging from 104.50% in 1972 to 100.225% in 1990 and 100% thereafter. The Company is obligated to redeem (at 100% of principal amount plus accrued interest) on July 15 in each of the years 1981 through 1995, through sinking fund payments in those years, 5% of the principal amount of the debentures outstanding on July 14, 1980, which amount is subject to reduction for debentures previously converted or redeemed at the option of the Company.

Certain debt agreements require the maintenance of minimum levels of consolidated working capital and ratios of earnings to fixed charges and restrict the payment of dividends and the acquisition of the Company's capital stock. Consolidated retained earnings not restricted under these provisions amounted to $21,417,000 at December 31, 1971.

Aggregate maturities of long-term debt for the five years ending December 31, 1976 are as follows: 1972—$11,400,000; 1973—$8,100,000; 1974—$24,000,000 (including revolving credit notes of $17,000,000); 1975—$5,400,000; and 1976—$3,900,000.

6 Federal income taxes and depreciation

The Company and its subsidiaries follow the practice of filing separate federal income tax returns and have elected to receive multiple surtax exemptions.

Depreciation of buildings and restaurant equipment is provided for tax purposes principally on accelerated methods whereas for book and financial statement purposes depreciation is provided principally on a straight line basis. In addition, interest charges on interim bank loans to finance new stores are included in the cost of land and buildings for book and financial statement purposes but are deducted currently for tax purposes. Provision has been made for deferred federal income taxes ($2,494,000 in 1971 and $1,467,000 in 1970) in recognition of these and certain other differences between income reported in the financial statements and income reported in the federal income tax returns.

The Company accounts for the investment tax credit (approximately $350,000 for 1971) on the flow-through method as a reduction of income tax provisions.

In 1971, the Company changed the estimated useful life for its new style restaurant buildings from 20 to 25 years, which change did not have a material effect on the consolidated financial statements.

7 Lease commitments

At December 31, 1971, the Company and certain of its subsidiaries were lessees under approximately 1170 ground leases or improved leases covering McDonald's store locations. Lease terms are generally for twenty years and, in many cases, provide for renewal options. The lessee generally is obligated for the cost of property taxes, insurance and maintenance. Minimum annual rentals under leases in effect at the end of 1971 range from $18,000,000 to $16,500,000 during the ten years 1972 through 1981 and from $15,800,000 to $4,000,000 during the ten years 1982 through 1991.

The Company and its subsidiaries also lease certain office space under leases expiring on various dates through 1976. Annual rentals amount to $540,000.

8 Rents receivable and deposits by lessees

Certain of the leased properties referred to in the preceding Note and other real estate owned by the Company have been subleased or leased to store operators, who are obligated for the cost of property taxes, insurance and maintenance. The leases with store operators generally have twenty year terms. Minimum annual rentals receivable from store operators during the ten years 1972 through 1981 range from approximately $32,000,000 to $29,700,000. The subleases or leases also provide for percentage rental payments based on sales. For 1971, the percentage rental income amounted to $16,707,000 ($11,328,000 for 1970).

Lease security deposits received from the store operators (sublessees or lessees) are generally refundable 50% at the end of the fifteenth year and the balance at the termination of the lease. As of December 31, 1971, security deposit refunds which will become due for all years through 1976 approximate $1,400,000. Refunds due for the individual years 1977 through 1991 range from approximately $600,000 to $2,300,000. Refunds of $100,000 at December 31, 1971 ($61,000 at December 31, 1970) due in one year have been included with accounts payable in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets.

9 Capital stock and additional paid-in capital

Details of the Series preferred stock outstanding at December 31, 1971 and 1970 are as follows:

Authorized shares	Issued and outstanding
	Shares	Amount
6% cumulative convertible —
Series A	2,500	$2,300,000
Series B	373	373,000
Series C	158	158,000
Series D	472	472,000
		$3,303,000

Each of the Series A through D preferred stock has one vote per share and a liquidation preference of $1,000 per share plus accrued dividends.

The Series A preferred stock is redeemable commencing July 1, 1973 at $1,000 per share plus accrued dividends. On July 1, 1978, the Company is required to redeem the Series A stock then outstanding at that same price. Series B, C, and D preferred stocks are redeemable July 1, 1974 through December 31, 1974 and after June 30, 1975, in each case at $1,000 per share plus accrued dividends.

From January 1, 1973 through June 30, 1973 for Series A and January 1, 1974 through June 30, 1974 for Series B, C, and D, each share of preferred stock is convertible into that number of shares of common stock equal to the quotient derived by dividing $900 by the greater of $8.33 or the then current market price (as defined) of the Company's common stock. From July 1, 1973 for Series A and July 1, 1974 for Series B, C, and D, the stocks are nonconvertible for a period of six months. Thereafter, each share is convertible into that number of shares of common stock equal to the quotient derived by dividing $1,150 by the greater of $3.33 or the then current market price (as defined) of the Company's common stock.

In January 1970, the Company called for redemption the 4 1/4% convertible subordinated debentures outstanding at that time. Debentures in the principal amount of $19,937,000 were subsequently converted into 934,142 shares of common stock of the Company at $21.33 per share plus cash in lieu of fractional shares.

In December 1970, the Company issued 375,000 shares of common stock which were sold in a public offering.

A 3 for 2 common stock split (effected in the form of a 50% stock dividend) was distributed in June 1971. In connection therewith, a transfer was made from additional paid-in capital to the common stock account of an amount equivalent to 50% of the balance in the common stock account prior to the split.

A summary of changes in common stock outstanding and additional paid-in capital during 1970 and 1971 follows:

	Common stock		Additional paid-in capital

At December 31, 1971, a maximum of 2,405,466 shares of common stock were reserved for (1) conversion of debentures (354,610 shares), (2) conversion of preferred stock (1,139,535 shares), (3) issuance under the stock option plan (342,785 shares), (4) issuance to the former owners of the Hawaiian stores, as explained in Note 2 (17,943 shares), and (5) contingent issuance of additional shares in connection with acquisitions of businesses referred to in Note 2 (550,593 shares).

10 Stock options

Under a stock option plan adopted in 1968 and amended in 1970, options to purchase a total of 450,000 shares of the Company's common stock may be granted to certain officers and key employees at prices not less than the fair market value of the stock at dates of grant. The plan terminates on April 30, 1973, but may be terminated sooner by the Board of Directors without affecting options then outstanding. Options become exercisable in five equal annual instalments commencing on the date of grant and expire five years from that date.

Information as to options at December 31, 1971 and 1970 and for the years then ended is as follows:

	Number of shares
	1971	1970
At December 31:
Outstanding (at prices ranging from $17 to $69)	205,585	223,032
Exercisable	73,676	110,652
Reserved for future options under the plan	137,200	217,620
During the year:
Granted	87,125	25,050
Canceled	6,705	15,210
Exercised (at prices ranging from $17 to $26)	97,867	6,618

11 Profit sharing plan

The Company has a trustee savings and profit sharing plan covering full time domestic salaried employees after two years of service. Company contributions ($886,000 for 1971 and $600,000 for 1970) are determined by the Board of Directors and are limited to the maximum amount deductible for federal income tax purposes.

12 Litigation

A subsidiary of the Company is a defendant in a suit claiming damages for alleged interference with brokerage services provided by plaintiff to a supplier. In the opinion of the Company's General Counsel, based on the information currently available, there will be no monetary damages assessed against the subsidiary as a result of this action.

13 Net income per share

Net income per share is computed based on the average number of common shares outstanding during each year, adjusted to give effect to stock splits and shares issued in connection with poolings of interests (Note 2), and is after recognition of annual dividend requirements on the Series preferred stock, as follows:

	1971	1970
Net income	$25,798,000	17,828,000
Annual dividend requirements on Series preferred stock - $60 per share	198,000	198,000
Net income applicable to common stock	$25,600,000	17,630,000
Average number of common shares outstanding for the year	18,690,098	17,897,400
Net income per share	$1.37	.98

Shares contingently issuable in connection with acquisitions of businesses (Note 2) and stock options granted after May 31, 1969 are considered to be common stock equivalents. However, shares contingently issuable in connection with acquisitions have been excluded from the calculation of reported net income per share since (1) shares contingently issuable in connection with the acquisition of stores in Hawaii, based on projected sales and earnings of the Hawaiian stores, would not have a dilutive effect and (2) based on current market price of the common stock, no additional shares would be issuable in connection with other acquisitions. Shares issuable upon exercise of stock options granted after May 31, 1969 have been excluded from the calculation since their inclusion, assuming acquisition of treasury stock with the proceeds from the stock options, would not change reported net income per share. Shares which will be issued based on 1971 sales and shares which would be returnable based on market price of the common stock at December 31, 1971 (Note 2) have also been excluded from the calculation as their inclusion would not change reported net income per share.

Assuming exercise of stock options at dates granted, no dilution of reported net income per share for 1971 or 1970 would have resulted. Assumed conversion of outstanding preferred stock, based on current price of the common stock, and conversion of the 4½% subordinated debentures when issued in 1971 would not have a dilutive effect.

14 Subsequent events

On March 8, 1972 the Board of Directors declared a two for one stock split (in the form of a 100% stock dividend) payable June 5, 1972 to stockholders of record May 22, 1972. The split is conditioned upon stockholder approval of an increase in the authorized common stock of the Company at the annual meeting scheduled for May, 1972.

The Board of Directors also voted to call for redemption on April 11, 1972 all of the 4½% convertible subordinated debentures due 1996.
